Our editors independently research, test and recommend the best products; you can find out more about our review process here. We can receive commissions on purchases made from the links we choose. Ravi Kumar/EyeEm/Getty Images Bringing a new pet into your home is a big decision. If you are looking for an animal, there are many pet adoption agencies across the country ready to help complete your family. Pet adoption is a great way to save a life and bring joy to your home. If you have decided that you are ready for a commitment, we have rounded up some of the best pet adoption agencies in the country. Here are our recommendations based on where you live and what you need to know before you apply for adoption. Best Friends Animal Society Best Friends Animal Society is a nationally recognised animal rescue organisation that has been working to save animals for more than 30 years. It operates the largest non-killing animal sanctuary in the country and has locations in New York, California, Utah and Georgia. In addition, she has a network of best friends in shelters that she works in all over the country. Best friends are 501 (c) (3) nonprofit rescues that focus on cats and dogs that would otherwise land to kill shelters. It also has the Best Friends Animal Sanctuary located in southern Utah that houses cats, dogs, horses, rabbits, birds, pigs and other animals. All the best friends animal society sites require that the dog or cat adoption test be completed before the process begins. This survey asks you questions about your lifestyle, what you're looking for for a pet and more. He will be sent to the adoption coordinator, who will work with you to find his new best friend. When you're zero on a pet that you think will work for your family, you'll have to meet and greet. Adoption fees vary depending on location. Founded in 1944, the North Shore Animal League is one of the largest non-kill rescues in the country. Located on Long Island in Port Washington, the North Shore places more than 18,000 pets on average each year. In addition to the main location near New York City, it also has a place in the Adirondacks. The process of its reception is quite simple. You will work with the adoption coordinator to find a pet that suits your lifestyle and meets your needs. You can visit cats and dogs in person in the shelter or create a meet and greet any pet that can be sheltered at home. Adoption fees range from $50 to $350, depending on the type and age of the pet you would like to adopt. This includes spay or neuter and up to 15 days of medical care in your office. In some cases, you can adopt a pet on the same day as you approach, but it depends on availability and whether you will find the right match. If in or around Chicago, check out Paws Chicago next time you're interested in expanding your animal family. This rescue is one of the largest in Chicago, and in 2019 alone they put more than 5,000 cats and dogs. To get started, you can fill in the fill ComPETibility Quiz to refine the type of pet that is best suited for your needs. Then you can browse your adopted animals and put in the app when you see one that you like. If the animal you're applying for has already found a home, Paws Chicago will keep your application in the file for six months while you wait for the next perfect match. Legs Chicago has several places throughout the city. Dog admission fees range from $200 to $350, while dogs under the age of 8 need an additional $100 leg training deposit to start training their puppy. Cat fees are between $50 and $150, depending on the age of your future cat friend (and if you meet two kittens, you can take them home for $250). We like that Paws Chicago focuses on finding the perfect match and even asking owners to follow the training to ensure a happy future. Based out of Carrollton, Texas, Operation Kindness has been rescuing cats and dogs since 1976. It works with a system of 41 shelters across Texas to help save pets in need. Most of her pets are located in the operation's kindness physical location, where you go to meet with an adoption counselor to find her the best fit. Each meeting lasts about one hour, and in some cases you can leave the same day with your new pet. In general, you can expect that your new pet will be home within 72 hours. Adoption fees are $135 for cats and $185 for dogs. And they include spay or neuter, vaccinations, a chip, and a valuable coupon for Pet Supplies Plus (dogs are also sent home with a food bag). Operation Kindness is not a kill shelter that prides itself on its savings rate. We like the profiles that it fills for each animal, which often contains several photos and a video, so you can get acquainted with each dog or cat in advance. Wags and Walks is located in West Los Angeles, has a 4,000-square-foot facility for stray dogs. However, it also has a robust nurturing system that ensures that it saves as many dogs as possible. The adoption process is quite simple and requires that the application be completed before meeting any pets. This allows the agency to check potential adopters and ensure that they find perfect fit for every stray puppy. Adoptors must be 21 years of age or older, and adoption fees range from $450 to $550 per dog. All pets have spay or neuter, vaccinations and a chip. Wags and Walks differ because she does not choose puppies for her rescue by breed or size. Instead, it focuses on temperament and the likelihood of thriving in a new home, which means that it often serves varieties that would otherwise be forgotten. It also has a very open mind when it comes to adopters and does not have to lay down rules on how much the local owner must have or how much they have to spend at home every week. This means that every adoption is personal, and the agency understands that families come in different shapes and sizes. Since 1994 PetSmart charities are working to help find stray dogs and cats loving homes across the country. With the With 1,600 store reception centers nationwide, the nonprofit has provided more than 9 million pets since launch. He works with local animal rescue groups across the country to hold adoption events, place flyers in local shops, and even house some pets locally. All pets before adoption are spayed or castrated. In addition, some PetSmart charities even offer cheap spay and neuter services to pets accepted outside the system. This makes it easy for anyone to spay or neuter their pet, regardless of finances. The adoption process and fees vary depending on the location, but some pets may return home with you on the same day. In addition, many adoptions come with coupons that will help you accumulate the essentials of your pet. Although it is not a specific adoption agency, Petfinder is a must-use tool for those looking for a new best friend. Launched more than 20 years ago, Petfinder is basically a pet adoption world for Google. Its search feature allows you to find adopted dogs, cats, birds, rabbits and more near you through various rescuers and organizations. You can sort the results by breed, age, color, behavior, child friendliness and more. This is one of the most detailed search tools for finding another pet. Through Petfinder, you can access the BIOS on each pet and contact the agency directly from your profile. You can also save pets for later life and even support a pet with a donation. Petfinder maintains partnerships with many local agencies to help support adoption through personal events and donations. When you adopt your new family member, Petfinder will follow the helpful advice and suggestions of partners to make your pet happy and healthy. Pet adoption fees vary depending on the agency and geographic location, but most of them range from $50 to $500. These often include spay or neuter, all necessary vaccines, and a chip. In addition, the cost of pet adoption is much more than a one-time fee. Before bringing a new friend home, it is important to take into account recurring costs such as veterinary care and food. It can cost between about $1,500 and $9,900 a year for your dog. This includes food, toys, veterinary care, grooming, training and dog walking and boarding. Not every dog owner will incur large costs in each of these categories. However, it is important to plan unexpected costs, such as an urgent medical situation. The process of making pets varies depending on the agency. Sometimes you can get away with a new pet on the same day that you complete the application. And in other cases, it may take some time to find the right match for your family. Many agencies will check your applications and call links to ensure appropriateness, which may also take some time. First, we looked at major metropolitan areas across the United States. All the agencies we have taken are respected in the field of animal rescue. All of our gulls are not killing agencies that focus on saving pets from high-kill shelters, as well as taking strays and surrendering. We gave high signs signs who had simple adoption processes. Walks and Wags, for example, made our list because it serves all types of adopters and does not exclude potential adopters based on lifestyle. All of our choices are spay or neuter with each adoption, but some (e.g. PetSmart and North Shore Animal League) have made our list because they also offer cheap spay and neuter clinics for external adoptions. All our agencies focus on finding the perfect fit and hire adoption counselors to make every animal fit for the family. Some agencies, such as Paws Chicago, have compiled our list because they focus on training so that every animal can succeed in their new home. Home.
